
NOTES FROM COUNTY I WORK

President of United States Gives Silver Trophies at Congress

Of all the wonderful experiences and thrills awaiting 4-H delegates to the National Club Congress, there are two which are likely to remain most vividly with the boy and the girl who are to receive the awards in the achievement contest. Each winner will receive a beautiful silver trophy two feet tall, which is given in the name of the President of the United States. They will be kept by the winners.

The trophies and those for other national champions will be presented to the winners at the club members' own banquet and national rally on Tuesday evening.

A secondary thrill for the achievement champions will be when they are presented at the national 4-H trophy party, a new experience feature described elsewhere in this issue.

Headquarters for the delegates this year will be the Auditorium Hotel. A huge 4-H bunting flag will hang in front of the hotel, which can be seen for blocks.

The new location has many advantages, being more centrally located and just a block from the L station where the delegates take trains for the stockyards.

Headquarters for the boys' and girls' club building as usual in connection with the International Live Stock Exposition. The junior baby beef show and corn exhibits will be staged as usual at the exposition.

Achievement Days

This is the season for achievement programs.

You have brought to a final and close your year's effort with the best set of programs we have ever had. The variety in types of programs was greater and their quality purer. More clubs have been recognized within the week, or will be than for the season a year ago."

Achievement day should be the object of every event in the year for the club. The boys believe if its real significance was more clearly impressed on club members and all others in the work they would never be anything but winners. A club member must achieve his goal before he knows what it takes to achieve. He must feed a pig to market pork chops and top the market. He must know what it takes to do it. He must weigh up his yield of corn or potatoes and record crops. And so forth. When a club boy starts in to do these things thinking they are a snap. It is the time for him to learn it, and not before. It is farming for himself. Come away with the girl. They must achieve before they know what it takes. That "know how" is the priceless value of 4-H training.

Making 4-H Club Plans of Work and Programs for Monthly Meetings

Every club should make a plan of work by December 14th for the entire year. This should contain specific plans for definite things to be done during the next twelve months. There should be project and community club goals, as well as those directly for the personal improvement of the individual members.

The project goals should be well adapted to the special needs of the members of each club. If rightly selected, they will do much to stimulate interest and ambition of the members.

For example, the girls in the food project might try to serve more attractive meals in their own homes, work to have every club member acquire correct food habits, or to make comfort boxes for their families. Clothing project girls might take as their goal to be better groomed, to make their own clothes, or to do their own darning. Country club members might call all books in their communities, try to have all books numbered or to increase the egg production.

If 75 bushels of corn per acre is a good average yield in the local community, the boys taking the corn project might work to have a 75 bushel club.

Each club should also have a community goal, something worthwhile which calls for the cooperation of all members. Some clubs have beautiful school grounds, and roadways, secured books for library, finished a bridge or camps, sponsored music memory contests, organized club exercises, prepared, served hot soup or cocoa at school during winter months. A committee might be appointed to find something suitable that will appeal to the members and then all work on it. No club can attain its highest possibilities if it does not help in the personal improvement of

The program of the monthly meeting should be considered the machinery for carrying out the club plan of work. This should be kept in mind and careful attention given to developing the right goals; then see that the monthly programs include them. Make all the programs lead to a very definite development of both the members and the club. Monthly programs should be made out for the entire year by December. The club year runs from December to November 20th. For these programs must be made in detail, carrying both specific topics, demonstrations, talks, etc., and the names of those who are to do them. A set of these programs should be made for the leader and one for the County Club agent.

Miss Estelle Nason, Home Demonstration Agent, Leader, will attend the first of the series of Community planning meetings in Oxford County. This meeting is scheduled for Brownville on Tuesday, December 15th, 10:30 A. M. Mrs. Walter Bickford is chairman of the woman's division and Albert Brooks of the men's.

Other planning meetings scheduled for the coming week are: Hiram, Denmark and Fryeburg.

Mrs. Grace Kinneer, Ridgeway Chairman of the Mexico Farm Bureau, announces the following committee in charge of the planning meeting held in the Baptist Church, Vestry on Thursday, December 15th: Hall, Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Attendant, Mrs. H. H. German; Publicity, Mrs. Esty; Entertainment, Mrs. Esty; Dinner, Mrs. Kinneer, Mrs. Averill, Mrs. Jones.

People all over the county know that a "square meal" means a good dinner, and that Farm Bureau women are notoriously good cooks. 1,185 people re-

The Norway group with Mrs. George Greenleaf, as chairman, and Mrs. Edythe Corbett as food project leader, served more meals to outsiders than any other community. The Eastern Star, W. C. T. U. and Rotary Club are among their regular customers. A meal does not have to be managed by the Farm Bureau to count in the County Contest. Three members of the committee must be Farm Bureau women and the menu meet the requirements of a "square meal" so of as much as $50 are eliminated. Whether you rent or own your home you can now enjoy electric cookery at lowest prices ever known.
